Hot New Web TV Series EXPOSURE Makes Its Debut January 16, 2013

Jacksonville, FL (January 16, 2013)- The new web TV series “Exposure” shot entirely in the Jacksonville Florida area premiered to a packed house (standing room only) this Wednesday in the theater at Latitude 30 on Phillips Hwy. “There is a tremendous amount of hidden talent (actors and crew) here in Jacksonville and we hope this project is the start of something much bigger for the Jacksonville, North Florida film market” said show creator and Executive Producer, Janine Anzalone. Director Daniel R. Solomon also commented, “Since we chose Jacksonville to shoot this project, we felt it only right to hold the premiere here in front of the film community that really does exist in this big city”.

The shows other Producer Joe Anzalone mentioned, “This truly is a Jacksonville project showing the diversity and production quality of the area with all locations featured throughout the series filmed here in Jacksonville and Clay County, Florida. The cast and crew at the time of production were also from Jacksonville and the surrounding North East Florida and Georgia areas”.

The show can be seen at: <http://exposurewebseries.com> . At the time of this press release the show is currently airing the first five of nine season one episodes with the additional episodes coming on line weekly, every Wednesday.

Details on the Web Series

The show is produced by Janine Anzalone, Daniel R. Solomon, and Joe Anzalone. The first season was directed by Daniel R. Solomon, written by Janine Anzalone and Daniel R. Solomon with Director of Photography, Sean Shea.

The season one cast includes: Janine Anzalone, Cindy Hogan, Kevin Porter, Jesse Malinowski, Kent Lindsey, Mack Dalton, Joanna C. Horton, Tom Fallon, and Dandy Barrett.

About the Web Series

Up and coming actress Natalie D’Angelo (Janine Anzalone- “Deep Seeded”) leaves the riches of her high powered New York City lawyer father, Richard D’Angelo (Kent Lindsey- “G.I. Jane , Passenger 57”) to find her way to Hollywood through Jacksonville Florida.

After not having much success as an actress in NYC, Natalie hears about the film industry starting to take root again in the place once called “Hollywood East,” Jacksonville, FL. So she moves south and back in with her old college roommate and fellow actor friend, Kansas Bryan (Joanna C. Horton). Natalie is ready for a shot of being cast in a Hollywood blockbuster movie being filmed in Jacksonville and directed by the hottest director in Hollywood, Stephen Day (Kevin Porter- “Dodgeball”). Casting Director Amy Rollins (Cindy Hogan – of the soon to be released first installment of the trilogy “Beautiful Creatures,” Army Wives, Breakout Kings, Drop Dead Diva”) inadvertently puts Natalie in a compromising situation with the powerful and devious Stephen Day.

As if Natalie didn’t have enough to deal with concerning a manipulative director, she soon learns that her so called best friend, Kansas, has used her for her own personal gain for the spotlight and ticket to Hollywood.

Staying true to her path, Natalie has to overcome her overzealous boyfriend, Gregory Chase (Jesse Malinowski- “American Reunion”) who’s working secretly for her father to bring her back to the family in New York City, and her feelings for a new love interest Tyler Hurley (Mack Dalton). As the plot unfolds, Natalie finds herself exposing much more than she bargained for in hopes of gaining her big break.
